Accomplishments

In 2020, I was awarded a scholarship by the Canadian government to study through ELAP (Emerging Leaders in the Americas Program) at Brandon University during the winter term (January - April). During this period, I took part in courses focused on statistics, database, and web technologies. During this occasion, I was also part of a team that wrote an article about the utilization of Blockchain technology in agriculture, which was published at TSP 2020 (International Conference on Communication).
